The Admission Policy of the Graduate School of Business Administration's Doctoral Program,
Kobe University

The Graduate Program of the Graduate School of Business Administration provides students with in-depth knowledge and advanced professional skills in the fields of management, accounting, and commerce, and enables the students to develop into outstanding internationally-minded researchers and professionals who excel in humanity and creativity, through a five-year program, consisting of a two-year master's course and a three-year doctoral course.

The Doctoral Program aims to foster researchers and professionals who will contribute to the progress and development of humanity through their research achievements. During the program, the students can gain exceptional research opportunities that allow them to acquire advanced and specialized knowledge in management, accounting, commerce, and related academic fields, which helps them develop the ability to conduct original research using scientific methods. After the completion of the program, students should be able to engage in high-level research and education; playing leading roles in their respective fields at universities and research institutions.

The Doctoral Program seeks students with the qualities and abilities that fit our aim. For this purpose, we accept those with exceptional abilities from various universities and diverse academic backgrounds.

- Applicants are sought with the following qualities and abilities:
 1. Students with a strong desire to explore the principles of management, accounting, and commerce. [Required competences: knowledge and technique; critical thinking, good judgement, and expression; initiative and cooperativeness; interest and motivation]
 2. Students who possess the basic capabilities to obtain the required scientific methodology for resolving research questions in management, accounting, and commerce. [Required competences: knowledge and technique; critical thinking, good judgement, and expression; interest and motivation]
 3. Students with the imagination and insight to translate into new scientific knowledge their research outcomes in the fields of management, accounting, and commerce. [Required competences: knowledge and technique; critical thinking, good judgement, and expression; initiative and cooperativeness]

- Basic Policy for the Selection of Students:

To select students with the abilities mentioned above, we examine the competences of the applicants in the areas listed below, based on the diploma policy and the curriculum policy of the Graduate School of Business Administration's doctoral degree program.

Through the appropriate entrance examination (General entrance examination, Recommendation-based entrance examination, Special entrance examination for working adults, or Entrance examination for SESAMI PhD Program), we assess each student's knowledge and technique; critical thinking and good judgement, and expression; initiative and cooperativeness; interest and motivation.

The doctoral program at the Graduate School of Business Administration, Kobe University, conducts a special entrance examination for a full-time professor, associate professor, assistant professor, lecturer, or research associate at a university; a researcher at research institute who is recognized by our graduate school as having high ability.

A qualified candidate may apply for the examination on the basis of the screening of the application documents without paper or oral examination provided that he/she obtains a letter of recommendation from a faculty member of our graduate school.
