

Yukihiro Nishimura is associate professor of finance at the Graduate School of Business Administration, Kobe University. He has been a faculty member and international exchange coordinator in charge of KIBER program (Kobe International Business Education and Research program, one-year exchange program with our partner universities abroad) since April 2014. He started his career at the Chase Manhattan Bank, N.A. Tokyo Branch,(Now JP Morgan Chase) and held various positions at American and European investment banks in the areas of interest rate derivatives and fund derivatives.

He received his bachelor's degree in economics from The State University of New York College at Buffalo in 1981, participated in the Arms Control and Defense Program, the Graduate School of Political Science, The Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and his Master of International Affairs from the School of International and Public Affairs, Columbia University in 1984.

He is a member of the Nippon Finance Association, Council of International Student Advisors of National Universities, and holds a position as external auditor for Teneo Partners, Japan Limited, a securities company specialized in offshore investment trust funds, PE fund, and other alternative products' funds, operated under type I and type II securities licenses.